Alienade

Not For Humans

A better Sprite for the next generation.
Half the sugar. Real ingredients.
Still a treat.

01

The Problem & Opportunity

The Problem

Gen Z and Gen Alpha don't have a fun, content-driven soda brand to rally behind.

Legacy sodas (Sprite, Fanta, Mountain Dew) are loaded with sugar, artificial flavors, and artificial colors.

Existing 'better for you' sodas (Olipop, Poppi) target wellness-minded millennials. They're health drinks, not treats.

Nobody has built a soda brand that young people actually want to be part of.

The Opportunity

The 'better for you' soda category is exploding: Poppi acquired for $1.95B, Olipop valued at $1.85B.

But every brand in the space is positioned as a health product. None of them are positioned as a mainstream treat.

Alienade is a better Sprite — not a wellness drink. Half the sugar, real ingredients, priced against regular soda. A treat you don't have to feel bad about.

We're not selling health. We're selling a better soda — at the same price as the unhealthy ones.

The Product

A cleaned-up carbonated citrus soda — same treat experience, better ingredients

Half the Sugar

Compared to mainstream citrus sodas like Sprite, Fanta, and Mountain Dew

Real Ingredients

No artificial flavors, no artificial colors, no artificial preservatives

Still a Treat

This is a soda, not a health drink. Enjoyment first, better ingredients second

Mainstream Price

Priced to compete directly with legacy sodas on shelf. No premium penalty

"Not For Humans"

A playfully exclusionary tagline that flips traditional marketing on its head. Creates in-group identity for Gen Z and Gen Alpha — the alien character is the brand mascot, the universe, and the culture all in one.

Why Now

Category is white-hot — $2B+ exits are happening right now.

Production partners are contracted and ready. California distributors are targeted.

500M monthly views means the launch audience already exists.

First-mover in creator-led soda. Once this lane is taken, it's taken.

$3M cap rewards early believers in a category producing billion-dollar outcomes.
